

Budget Deficit Slash of $1 Billion Seen

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon said today the economic outlook is promising that the estimated $11.9 billion deficit in President Kennedy's 1963-64 budget may be cut a billion dollars.

This provides even more reason for reducing taxes, Dillon told a meeting of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

Kennedy had forecast the deficit of nearly $12 billion—largest ever projected—when he proposed a $98.8-billion spending program for the year beginning July 1, along with a three-step tax reduction plan.

In his prepared remarks for a tax and spending discussion on the second day of the business group's meeting, Dillon said it would have been unrealistic four or five months ago to expect conditions for a tax cut would be so favorable. Now, he said, "the time is right."

Based upon the economy's performance in the last few months, he added, prospects for the year are relatively better than most observers had anticipated.

"If the improvement continues," Dillon said, "our estimated revenues for fiscal 1964 may well be more than we estimated in January—perhaps by as much as a billion dollars—thus reducing the deficit."

"Even more important, a tax cut when the economy is reasonably buoyant would be far more effective in carrying us toward full employment than a tax cut when the economy is merely limping along."

He said Kennedy's tax program is designed to "accelerate our economy" well into the future. The economy now, he said, is ideal for this kind of program.

Responding to critics of budget deficits, Dillon said "the deficit we now face is the result of an economy which produces too little—rather than of a government which spends too much."

"There can be no question," he said, "that if our economy were operating at reasonably full capacity, our tax system would today be producing more than enough revenue to finance our current national needs within a balanced budget. Instead of worrying about deficits we would be enjoying budgetary surpluses."

Sentenced for Tax Evasion

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—A Minneapolis man who pleaded guilty to income tax evasion was sentenced to three months in prison, but he was granted a week's delay in order to finish some work.

Herbert Hartman, 59, told the court Monday his main occupation is preparing income tax returns for other people. U.S. Dist Judge Edward Devitt stayed the start of the prison term to enable Hartman to complete some of his clients' tax returns.

Sweepstakes Bill Signed in New Hampshire

CONCORD, N.H. (AP)—Democratic Gov. John W. King, announced to the Republican-controlled New Hampshire Legislature today that he had signed a sweepstakes bill which had kept the state in turmoil for months.

Gov. King called on the legislature to help him "make a first state operated sweepstakes in this country, one that will be conducted honestly, efficiently and in compliance with the laws of the United States government."

King told the lawmakers his legislative counsel, Joseph Millimet, had discussed the sweepstakes with U.S. Department of Justice lawyers and was convinced that the New Hampshire sweepstakes would not violate federal law.

He said tickets for the sweepstakes, the first to be legalized in any state in nearly 70 years, could be sold to people whether or not they live in New Hampshire.

"It is perfectly lawful for our neighbors to come here on vacation, buy sweepstakes tickets and collect their prizes if they win," the governor said.

He added that the federal law is concerned only with interstate traffic and not with sweepstakes conducted within a single state.

The governor spoke before a joint session of the House of Representatives and Senate.

The galleries were jammed with visitors. News and television cameramen recorded the historic occasion from the aisles.

U.S. Group Honors Mr. McClellan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., was recognized Monday night as one of the "Great Living Americans" by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

The citation noted McClellan's "effective work in promoting economy . . . his concern that decency and fair play must ever remain the hallmarks of America's economic and political life—for his persistence in advocating legislation to restore equality in labor management relations."

Also honored with the awards at a banquet in Washington were William McChesney Martin Jr., chairman of the Federal Reserve Board and former Rep. Walter H. Judd, also was honored for his forthright and unwavering efforts to root out gangsterism and corruption from very level of society.

McClellan was elected to the House of Representatives from the old 6th Congressional District of Arkansas in 1934. He was elected to the Senate in 1942.

As chairman of the Senate Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations he has probed organized crime and improper practices in labor-management relations and other fields.

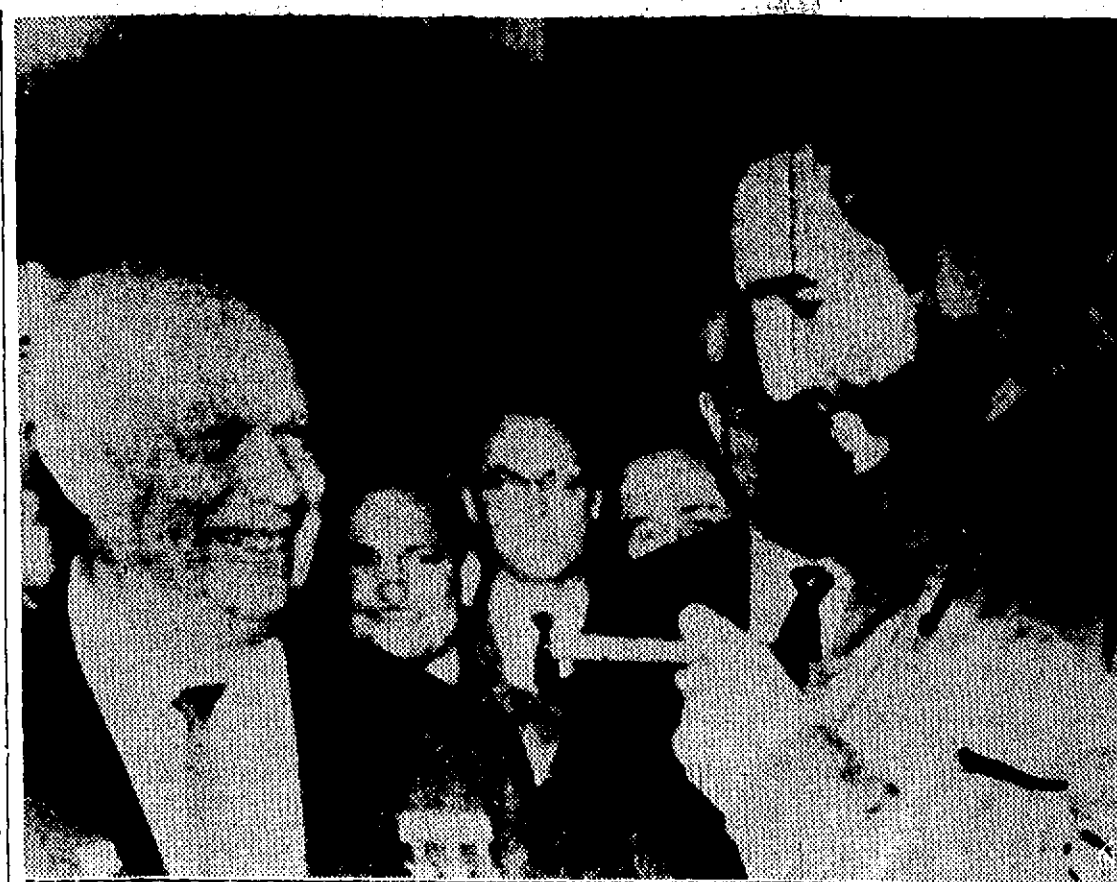

A capsule biography by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce said McClellan "has helped put into effect most of the 500 recommendations of the Hoover Commission for Economy, Efficiency and Improvement in the Government."

"He has sponsored legislation that amended the Internal Revenue Code; amended the National Labor Relations Act; helped develop natural resources through public works programs; and improved government budgeting, accounting and appropriation procedures."

"He wrote the 'Bill of Rights' amendment to the Landrum-Griffin Act of 1959, the heart of internal labor union reform."

Martin was honored "for his vigorous espousal of a free, competitive and productive economic system."

Judd's citation said that for 30 years he was a medical missionary, 20 years of service in Congress and courage in the fight against communism.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING—The Greenhill School, a small nationally known private good school in Carrolton, Tex., just north of Dallas, was struck by lightning and set afire during a weekend thunderstorm. Burned to the ground was the library, the officers' eight classrooms, the cafeteria and the auditorium. Damages were estimated at $70,000.

No Ads for Poultry Show Program

This year there will be no advertising sold for the program of the Southwest Arkansas Poultry Festival. It is hoped that business men of the area will spend a comparable amount to buy tickets for the chicken barbecue and pageant.

The price of the tickets is $1.00 each and ticket sales chairman James Morrow and Ralph Lehman are hopeful of selling enough tickets to make up the revenue formerly derived from advertising.

Any firm selling 25 tickets will be listed in the small program as a patron. It is suggested that businesses take a block of 25 tickets and offer them to employees or customers in any manner they see fit to utilize them. There will be a drawing about every 15 minutes from 5:30 to 8:00 p.m. for those who attend.

Bride of a Few Hours Is Killed

DESERT CENTER, Calif. (AP)—Married only a few hours, an 18-year-old bride was killed when a truck crashed into her bridegroom's stalled car.

Airman Donald A. Scott, 22, of Luke Air Force Base, Glendale, Ariz., told police Monday that a short circuit doused the lights of the car. He said he was trying to repair it in darkness and was barely able to jump out of the truck's path seconds before it hit.

Dead is Alma Ray Scott, also of Glendale, Ariz. The driver of the truck, Benjamin C. Ford, 69, of Covina, Calif., was unhurt.

State Takes Over Roads in County

The Highway Commission at its meeting on Wednesday, April 24 formally added approximately 790 miles of former County roads and city streets to the State Highway System. In another action, the Commission programmed approximately 600 miles of roads already on the System for future construction or reconstruction.

Roads added to the State System in Hempstead County were:

- (1) County road from the Jct. of S.H. 29 west of DeAnn via DeAnn to the Nevada County Line 6.84 miles
- (2) County road from the end of S.H. 355 at Palmos east to the Nevada County Line 4.40 miles

Road programmed for future improvement were:

- (1) S.H. 67 (City ByPass of Hope) on new location 5.3 miles
- (2) S.H. 355 from the Jct. of S.H. 29 east to Palmos 4.0 miles

Thinks U.S. Should Give Israeli Aid

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Republican senators called today for U.S. intervention to stave off any Arab aggression against Israel in the explosive Middle East.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., proposed that the United States attempt to get Great Britain, France and other Western nations to join it in a collective defense agreement with Israel.

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., said this country should offer its good offices for direct peace negotiations between Israel and its Arab neighbors. Egypt's Gamal Abdel Nasser is attempting to weld the Arab nations into a United Arab Republic.

Javits said in a prepared Senate speech that a threatened pro-Nasser takeover of Jordan, plus threats to Israel, indicates "time is running out on peace in the Middle East."

"To stop a mounting war threat, now and foreclose also renewed Communist mischief," he said, "the United States in concert with the United Kingdom, France and other interested nations should offer to join in a collective defense agreement with Israel and any other Middle East state willing to join and carry out its obligations for the preservation of peace and security in the Middle East."

"The Soviet Union's support of Nasser goes far beyond even the huge masses of guns, tanks, planes, submarines and ships that it has poured into Egypt to re-equip Nasser's armies."

"Because the Kremlin knows Israel is committed to the free world by conviction as well as every other tie, it regards Israel as legitimate prey, and it will—as it has already—use every opportunity to stir up the Arabs and support their attacks on Israel."

Scott called in an address to the Adas Israel Congregation Monday night for an end to the Kennedy administration's "even-handed" policy in dealing with Middle East nations. He said this should be supplanted by direct support of Israel.

War Threats in Caribbean Are Diminishing

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — War threats receded today as the Dominican Republic claimed a bloodless victory over Haitian dictator Francois Duvalier and inter-American conciliators winged toward this Caribbean island.

The Dominican government radio proclaimed a "triumph for our national dignity" in the Haitian government's removal of guards from the grounds of the Dominican Embassy in Port au Prince. Alleged opponents of Duvalier had taken refuge there.

President Juan Bosch's government also took satisfaction from assurances from Haiti that it would respect the security of diplomatic missions there.

The Dominican government had charged that Haitian troops had invaded and surrounded its embassy in Port au Prince. Threatening to use force unless Duvalier gave in by 8 o'clock Monday night, it sent troop reinforcements to stations near the Haitian border and moved warships toward the French-speaking Negro republic with which it shares the island of Hispaniola.

A fact-finding mission from the Organization of American States left New York for Port au Prince and Santo Domingo to try to smooth over the differences.

Radio Santo Domingo said President Romulo Betancourt of Venezuela had offered the Dominican government "all you need in your fight to free the people of Haiti from the dictator."

The U.S. government disclosed that it was withdrawing a 30-man naval training mission from Haiti at Duvalier's demand. Duvalier's demand was made Saturday, before the flareup in relations with the Dominican Republic, and obviously resulted from Washington's open opposition in recent months to the Duvalier dictatorship.

The United States declined Monday to serve on the OAS peace mission because of its strained relations with Haiti.

AP correspondent Morris Rosenberg reported from Port au Prince that Haitian guards still were stationed across the street from the Dominican Embassy.

Rosenberg said Haitian guards also were posted outside the Brazilian, Venezuelan and Ecuadorian embassies. These three and the Dominican Embassy are believed to be sheltering more than 70 Haitians who took refuge there after Duvalier began rounding up opponents last week.

Rosenberg said Foreign Minister Rene Chalmers told him the Duvalier regime would await arrival of the OAS team before deciding its next move.

Blackbird Almost Went Bye, Bye

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—A blackbird almost succeeded in going bye-bye with a pensioner's check Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Hawkins of nearby Willoughby Township were riding in their automobile when they spotted the low-flying bird with an envelope in its beak. They stopped, blew the car horn and clapped their hands. The bird dropped the envelope.

Hawkins retrieved it, found it contained a pension check for Lewis Willick of Willoughby Township, and delivered it to him.

The bird apparently picked the envelope out of Willick's mailbox.

Rockefeller Feels Swap Is Possible

By RELMAN MORIN

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says he believes the United States could make a profitable swap with the Soviet Union on Cuba—the Soviets to stop training saboteurs there in exchange for the American restraints placed on anti-Castro "freedom fighters."

He said President Kennedy should advise Premier Khrushchev, "If you continue this, we will be forced to take drastic action."

The New York governor did not spell out what he meant by drastic action.

Rockefeller set forth his views on Cuba Monday night in a speech before a Republican fund-raising dinner in Cincinnati, Ohio. He spoke to an audience of 1,500 who paid $100 a ticket.

During his one-day visit to Cincinnati, the New York governor also said President Kennedy has made a "clear failure of leadership in Washington." He said Kennedy has not lived up to the "lavish promises" made during the 1960 presidential campaign.

"The American people are being short-changed—in jobs, in security, in living standards, and in social advance," he said.

The governor drew his biggest round of applause when he discussed Cuba and said "perhaps we can get some reciprocity from Mr. Khrushchev."

Before the speech he said in a television interview: "It seems to me that it might be a very valuable thing if the President of the United States should say to the Soviet Union that we would like to demand that the Soviet Union give the same guarantee to prevent those Latin who are being brought into Cuba for training in sabotage and subversion in the whole area of penetration and disruption of the free governments of Latin America."

"We might demand from the Soviets this action on the part of the Cubans, which is very comparable to what the (anti-Castro) Cubans are trying to do to the Cuban government."

Rockefeller said "this is the most serious threat to the Western Hemisphere."

Indirectly, he attacked the administration over the situation in Laos where the coalition government is threatened by Communist troops. He said the United States has had experience with coalition governments in China and Berlin and he asked: "Did they work? Who wouldn't have thought this would happen in Laos?"

Storms Bring Death, Damage Across South

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mighty tornadoes knifed out of the sky throughout the southland Monday, smashing homes, killing several persons and injuring dozens. Arkansas miraculously escaped the menace.

Tornadoes dealt death as near as Moon Lake, Miss., just across the Mississippi River from Helena. The tornado passed over Helena, sending a shower of hailstones 1 inch in diameter, but otherwise causing little damage.

Winds at Helena reached 55 miles per hour. Four persons were killed by the tornado and four others were hospitalized at Helena.

The dead were identified as Ausley Buchanan, a Negro man; Melinda Foster, 5, a Negro child; Mrs. Tiny Evans, 100 grandmother of the girl; and E. L. Culp, a white man.

Another Negro, A. C. Pounds, about 35, was killed by a tornado that struck near Shannon, Miss., in the central part of that state.

Those hospitalized at Helena all in serious condition, were: Tony Delores Foster, 11; Tony Lee Foster, 5; Calvin Foster, 7; Mitchell Foster, four months. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Pat Foster, who was working in a field when the tornado struck.

The grandmother was keeping the children when the storm hit the home, smashing it.

Other tornadoes roamed in the Bonita, La., and Beekman, La., areas between six and 10 miles south of Crossett and Hamburg areas.

Large hailstones peppered large parts of Arkansas, from Helena to Little Rock to El Dorado. Stones measuring 1 inch to 1½ inches in diameter hit Little Rock. The biggest stones reported measured 2½ inches at the El Dorado Municipal Airport.

No damage was reported by the tornadoes in the Bonita-Beekman areas. Another tornado hit near Advance, Mo., 25 miles south of Cape Girardeau, Mo., causing considerable damage but no injuries.

In Little Rock, broken tree limbs cut off power to about 500 Arkansas Power & Light Co. customers, but AP&L worked to restore all power by midnight.

The damage in Little Rock was attributed to high winds, not a tornado.

A plank flew from a store and speared the wall of a nearby house almost penetrating a second wall behind which a woman and two babies slept.

TUNICA, Miss. (AP) — Tornadoes roared through widespread areas of the south and central parts of the nation Monday and Tuesday night, leaving 10 dead and more than 50 injured.

Four persons were killed near this north Mississippi town when a tornado skipped across the Mississippi River in Arkansas and hit the Moon Lake fishing area. Two others were killed 140 miles east at Shannon, Miss.

Farther north, the Tennessee highway patrol reported two killed by a twister at Maury City, about 90 miles northeast of Memphis. One was reported killed in Hamilton, Ala., in the northwest part of the state near the Mississippi line.

An elderly woman was killed in Randles, Mo. Other tornadoes struck Indiana and Kentucky. High winds were reported in Louisiana.

Those killed at Moon Lake near Tunica were listed as Ausley Buchanan; Melinda Foster, 5; Mrs. Tiny Evans, 7, the girl's grandmother, and E. L. Culp. Killed at Shanon were A. C. Pounds, about 35, and Beatrice Hodges.

The Maury City, Tenn., victims were listed as Mrs. Sissie Starks, 86, of Friendship, Tenn., and her daughter, Mrs. Frank Branch, 39, of Jackson, Tenn. They were visiting in the home of Mrs. Starks' son G. P. Starks. The frame house was destroyed.

The man killed in Alabama was identified as . . . Continued on Page Three

Chapter XXVI

"Nichols turned to Frances. 'Why, Mrs. Terrill? Do you know the reason why?'"

"She hasn't talked to anyone but Corby — Mr. Ryan."

"You her young man?" Nichols asked me.

"No, I'm not her young man," I said, getting impatient. "I'm Mrs. Terrill's lawyer. I talked to Dawn because she asked for me."

"Why, then?"

Fred Twining must have seen how raw my nerves were. He moved in smoothly. "I came here to tell Mr. Ryan and Mrs. Terrill about the murder of Pat Canaday."

"You didn't think it was necessary to tell us about it, Twining?" Cash said, his voice loud.

"Please, John," Nichols said. "Go ahead, Twining."

"I came here for reasons you may understand when I have a chance to tell you," Fred said. "I thought the Terrill women might be in danger. I thought Canaday's murderer might be headed here. It seemed to knock Miss Terrill off her pins. She started screaming, ran down the hall and climbed up on the terrace wall. Corby's kept her reasonably quiet, kept her talking, but I think she'll jump and so does he unless we can get to her."

"Aren't you the one to get to her, Mrs. Terrill?" Nichols asked.

"I am the last one," Frances said, her voice shaken.

"In your judgment, Mr. Ryan, what will happen if I go down the hall and talk to her?" Nichols asked.

"Take me with you," I said. "and don't open the screen door at the end of the hall. She says if anyone opens the screen door and comes out—"

We went down the hall. I could see the white blur of her dress before we got to the screen door.

"Dawn?" I called out.

"Corby, I warned you—"

"We're not coming out," I said quickly.

"Hello, Miss Terrill," Nichols said.

"Who are you?"

"I'm a police officer, Miss Terrill. Capt. Dan Nichols. I just wanted to tell you there's nothing in the world to be afraid of now."

"Are you a mind reader, Capt Nichols?" she asked.

"I'm afraid I'm pretty much of a hard-boiled realist, Miss Terrill," he said. "Mr. Ryan tells me you're afraid a killer may try to get at you. I just want to assure you he hasn't got a chance. This building is surrounded. I've got men in the lobby, in the hall outside this apartment, in the apartment itself."

"I've had a chance to think that far, Captain. Being afraid of him started me off, I guess. Then I got here and I began to think about other things. Did you tell him about the cliff, Corby?"

"No."

"You can tell him later, Corby — after I decide."

"Decide what, Miss Terrill?" Nichols asked in a conversational tone.

"Whether to die slowly or die quickly, Captain."

"That, I should imagine, would take a lot of thinking out," Nichols said.

"So go away and let me think," she said, suddenly sharp.

"Whatever you say," Nichols said. "Only you don't have to decide that now, you know. You can always die quickly if you make up your mind to it."

"Now I almost have the courage," she said.

"You want Mr. Ryan to stay with you?"

She laughed. "Poor Corby. He's already run out of ways to make the world look glamorous. Take him with you, Captain."

"Okay," Nichols said, so casual I wanted to shout at him. "Only you'll let us know when you make up your mind?"

The glasses turned away from us and looked down. "All I have to do is sway just a teeny bit—"

"Dawn!" I cried out.

She giggled again. "Your act is even better than Corby's. But do you really think you could convince me that you care what I do?"

"I think I could."

"What is the line, Captain? Would they send you back to pounding a beat if you fail to get me in?"

"I've failed before," Nichols said, "and still got my promotions."

"When someone was going to jump?"

"How did you feel when they jumped?"

"I felt cheated," he said, matter-of-factly. "The ones who jumped never got to tell me the whole story," he said. "It's like reading a serial in a magazine and never being able to find a copy with the last installment in it. If you were to jump I'd feel cheated because I don't understand why. I wish you wouldn't tell I do."

"You see, Corby? His line is twice as good as yours. I interest him. That's the next best thing to being wanted."

Youngsters Draw Coach's Praise

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — These younger Razorbacks — the ones full of vinegar — drew the praise from head football coach Frank Broyles as the University of Arkansas football team drilled for the Red-White game in Little Rock this weekend.

Among those drawing the verbal laurels were Glen Ray Hines of El Dorado, Jerry Welch and Mike Hales of Little Rock, Jackie Brasuel, Van Buren Jim Lindsey of Forrest City, Jim Johnson of Bentonville and Bobby Nix of Benton.

Broyles summed up this way: "As I expected the young boys did well. A lot of them had their best day of the year."

Hines, in particular, drew words of praise.

Even so, Broyles declined to name his roster for the Red-White game, saying the team needs more work.

He emphasized that linebackers and the passing attack needed considerable polish before the game.

Weaker Sex Proving Not So Weak

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Printed programs for college varsity sports traditionally carry team rosters providing such valuable information as: "Butch Fatback Wt. 240 Ht. 6-1 Age 21 Class Sr."

Now an additional column will have to be added, giving figures like these: "34-22-34."

These, of course, represent vital statistics of the other — or so-called weaker—sex, and we're going to be dealing with them on an increasing scale in the coming years.

The Southeastern Conference took the initiative recently—quietly and with a collective blush—by announcing that henceforth coeds would be allowed to compete on varsity athletic teams.

At Tulane, Martha Leveritt and Pam Hayes, a pair of shapely mermaids, went out for the swimming team and triggered a stampede for the university pool.

Miss Leveritt swam in two meets in the 200-yard freestyle. She didn't score any points but, as one observer commented, "She upset the concentration of the opposition."

Pam is a freshman breaststroker — Tulane's secret weapon for next year.

The University of Kentucky gave a varsity college scholarship to a petite par-breaker named Mary Lou Daniel. Neighboring Centre College has a freshman, Sue Stafford, who has won three of her four varsity tennis matches.

At Louisville, Martha Aulbach posted a 5-2 record and Elizabeth Cravy 6-3 against males in varsity tennis. Then the opposition started protesting. Their complaint was that it created an awkward situation in dressing room facilities. The real trouble, someone said, was the girls' blistering forehands.

Carol Hanks, the No. 12-ranked woman tennis player in the United States, plays the second varsity position for Washington University of St. Louis, constantly clobbering her male opponents, and next year Athletic Director Harry Burruss says he hopes to have another ranking woman player—Justina Bricks, ninth nationally.

Boxer Held for Arkansas Kidnapping

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Richard Tyler Lane, 32, a former boxer, was arraigned in Sacramento, Calif., Monday and held under $50,000 bond in connection with the kidnapping of a Little Rock hospital clerk.

Lane was arrested Sunday in a Sacramento hotel and charged with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution. U.S. Atty. Robert D. Smith issued the warrant in Little Rock.

James Burton Ing, 42, of Reno, Nev., has been arrested and arraigned at Reno. He is being held under $100,000 bond. Lane, also of Reno, is being held under $50,000 bond.

Cecile May Lane, 25, wife of Richard Lane, also is wanted in the case. She is still at large.

Prosecutor John Jernigan has filed kidnapping charges against the trio in connection with abduction of William O. Bonds, night admissions clerk at Arkansas Baptist Hospital. He was taken April 23 to a lake near Little Rock and tortured by three persons who wanted to know the room number of James Dean Walker.

Walker is charged in the slaying of North Little Rock policeman Jerrell Vaughan April 16.

Attorneys for Ing have filed for a writ of habeas corpus to dismiss the kidnapping charge. A hearing was to be held today on the matter.

Ing was linked to Walker, who was seriously wounded in the shooting in which Vaughan was killed, after a trunk of old coins shipped from Missouri went to Ing. The coins allegedly were shipped by Walker, the FBI said.

Both Lane and Ing claim to have been in Reno at the time of the shooting, although not together.

An extradition hearing for Ing is set for May 37. No extradition hearing has been set for Lane.

Walker also is from Reno, the FBI said. Walter Freeman

Memphis State tennis varsity is a girl named Bonnie Dondeville but the University of Mississippi refused to play against her. Nancy Devlin won three of her four matches at Marietta, Ohio, College and then was denied a varsity letter because of a rule limiting letters to "bonafide male undergraduates."

SHOULD SHE INVITE SON TO HER WEDDING?
By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE
Dear Helen: Should I invite my son to our wedding and reception? I am divorced seven years and plan to marry in a few months. The little boy by the first marriage is eight years old. The priest sees no wrong in his being there. Do you? —Uncertain

Dear Uncertain: Of course your little boy should come to the wedding. After all, even though divorced from his father, you are his mother. Love him, make him feel wanted and see that he has the best time ever at your wedding. But don't let the renewed relationship, if it is that, stop there.

Just because you and his father didn't agree is no reason why you should carry the feud on to the child. You and your new husband should be his friends as well as "parents," if possible.

Of course there is the long chance that his father won't agree or might even cause trouble at the wedding. In that event, use your common sense and avoid making the boy a bone of contention.

Dear Helen: Bobby and I have been dating three months but not going steady. He comes from a respectable family. Suddenly my parents said I couldn't see or talk to him any more because they didn't know him well. In other words, they didn't get a chance to sit down and talk with him. They said if he called any more, they were going to call his parents and talk with them. I asked them for another chance to let me invite them over but they said I had my chance.

We try to see each other as much as possible but neither of us like it this way. My parents are people you can sit down and talk to and work out things as a rule. Maybe you could help me clear this up. My mother reads your column. —Another Chance

Dear Another: Encourage your parents to talk with the boy's parents. This will break the ice and, if they are nice people, make your father and mother more tolerant of the boy. Meanwhile, stop the secret dating. Your parents may know more than they revealed. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for "Teenage Code."

Dear Helen: We are a middle-aged family of four sisters and a brother — all married. The past two years have been a bit trying, healthwise, to all of us except the eldest. During a sisterly conversation while airing our aches and pains, the eldest remarked, "I shall outlive all of you. I am the strongest."

This, from the lips of an iron-willed woman, was no idle jest. What is your opinion of such a remark? We were aghast. —Wondering

Dear Wondering: It was a grim, unfeeling remark but then it's probably indicative of your iron-willed sister's character. Ignore it and prove how wrong she is by enjoying life to the fullest. She's more to be pitied than censured.

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

nior conference, American Legion Auxiliary, were told at a meeting in Little Rock Saturday. The speaker, Augusto Villalon, graduate of the University of Havana, Cuba, and an engineering instructor at Little Rock University, has been a refugee from his native Cuba since 1961.

Officers elected for the coming year included: president, Linda Berryman, Stuttgart; secretary, Rozann Reed, Little Rock Unit 305; historian, Mary Beth Allen, Hope Unit 12. When contest winners and achievement awards were announced, Mary Beth Allen was cited for the best piano number and received an Auxiliary pin and pin guard.

not identified. The Marion County, Ala., sheriff's office said at least 17 other persons were injured in the Hamilton twister, most of them teen-agers gathered in a cafe.

Heavy property damage was reported in most of the stricken states. The most destructive twister apparently touched down first at the Moon Lake area in Mississippi and then spun east for five miles to the community of Rich. The four persons were killed and a dozen injured when a row of six tenant houses was flattened on a plantation.

One house near Rich was carried one-fourth mile by the twister but its 10 occupants survived. Heavy property damage was reported from winds and hail the size of hen's eggs which pounded the area.

Five persons were reported injured in the Maury City twister. The highway patrol said seven homes were destroyed.

A 6-month-old baby is in critical condition at a Jackson, Tenn., hospital. A witness said the baby was blown out of the arms of its father, Ernest Clement, as he tried to make his way to a car at their home near Alamo, Tenn.

Four persons were injured at Talladega in east Alabama. Widespread damage was reported.

The Weather Bureau said it had an unofficial report of 3 inches of rain in seven hours at Fort Payne, in northeast Alabama. U.S. Highway 11 was closed near Fort Payne, and some flooding was reported over northern parts of Alabama.

A small tornado tore the roof off the Kaintuck Hotel at Russellville, Ky., and damaged several business houses and residences. Tornadoes swept into the Wabash River Valley along Indian's western border with heavy rain and hail. No injuries were reported.

High winds caused property damage in central and northern Louisiana but no one was reported hurt. A windstorm toppled 21 oil derricks in the Tullahoma area in central Louisiana.

Tornado alerts were issued for Georgia by the Atlanta Weather Bureau but were rescinded early this morning. Stiff winds raked Atlanta and other parts of Georgia and caused temporary flooding in some low-lying streets in Atlanta.

Consolidation Plan Upheld by Court

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court upheld today the consolidation of Hardy and Ash Flat school districts in Sharp County.

S. C. Bates, who represented property owners in the two districts, had asked the Supreme Court to reverse a decision by Sharp Chancery Court.

The Supreme Court disagreed with Bates' contention that consolidation should be voided since the school site specified in a Dec. 4, 1962, election ballot could not be obtained.

The ballot on consolidating Hardy District 38 and Ash Flat District 4 designated that the new building would be located on certain property, and Bates contended that when voters approved the consolidation they created a binding obligation on directors of the new district to locate the plant on the property.

The Supreme Court said consolidation should not fail if the designated site could not be obtained. The suit said one landowner declined to sell.

The Supreme Court upheld a contempt of court citation handed down by special Chancellor John G. Rye in Pope County July 16, 1962, on Leo and Ella Casey for failing to convey title to land to one Thomas J. Self.

According to the briefs, the Casey couple had advertised the land for sale and Self made a first payment, but the Casey couple declined to convey the deed to self.

Rye, named as a special judge by the governor, held the couple in contempt for failing to honor an order to sell handed down by a former chancellor who had died.

The Caseys contended that the naming of Rye special judge was unconstitutional because the lawyers of the district, not the governor, should have named the special judge.

Until May 7 Mr. and Mrs. Sanford will be at home at the Barlow, then will move to Newport News, Va.

Mets Defeat L.A. Dodgers on a Balk

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

Baseball, on the American plan, had an international flavor today with the menu featuring a bunch of men in blue acting like Dutch windmills and a couple of guys wondering whether they'll have to climb into khakis in the Caribbean.

The umpires went into their windmill act again Monday night, waving the winning run home on a balk as the New York Mets defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-2 in a historic game that insured the 1963 balk controversy its place in the record books.

San Francisco outfielder Lelipe Alou said after the Giants' 4-3 victory over Philadelphia that he and pitcher Juan Marichal might be recalled to military service with the Dominican Republic's armed forces because of their homeland's current crisis with Haiti.

The only other major league games were played at Los Angeles where the Senators and Angels of the American League took turns walloping each other in a two-night doubleheader. The Senators won the opener 9-3, the Angels took the nightcap 13-8.

Rain postponed the other games—Houston at Pittsburgh and Chicago at Cincinnati in the NL, and Baltimore at Minnesota and New York at Chicago in the AL.

The runs were forced in by balks in the Mets-Dodgers game. The first, charged to New York starter Roger Craig, gave Los Angeles a 2-1 lead in the second inning. That held until the seventh when Ed Kranepool started a three-run rally with a double off Bob Miller. Charlie Neal then beat out a bunt. Kranepool scored the tying run on a wild pitch and Al Moran followed with a single that chased Miller.

Ed Roebuck came on in relief and balked while pitching to pinch hitter Marv Throneberry, sending Neal across with the deciding run. Jim Hickman's single drove in the final run, giving Craig a little extra working room as he went the distance with a seven-hitter.

The balks were the 77th and 78th in the NL this season. The pre-

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Bridge twosome from Fort Smith and Hot Springs took victories in the state semifinals of the North American Rubber Bridge Tournament. They play tonight in the finals.

Mrs. James Gutensohn and Mrs. Richard A. DeLong of Fort Smith had 4570 points for first place. Mrs. G. G. Hopkins and Mrs. Paul Maddox of Hot Springs had 3490 points.

They will compete in the finals tonight simultaneously with other state finalists west of the Mississippi River for a chance at the National Finals in New York May 18-19.

Finalists throughout the nation will play identical hands and the pair with the highest point total east of the Mississippi will play the winners from west of the Mississippi in the national finals.

The Giants got a lift when slumping Willie Mays tripped and scored the winning run on Orlando Cepeda's single in the third inning against the Phillies. The victory, snapping a three-game losing streak, went to Jack Fisher, who scattered 10 hits for his first NL victory.

Chuch Hinton of the Senators and George Thomas of the Angels took hitting honors in the twinbill, each collecting five hits and driving in four runs.

The Senators wrapped up the opener for Don Rudolph with a four-run fifth inning uprising on a walk. Minnie Minoso's single, a throwing error by reliever Julio Navarro on Hinton's grounder and Ed Brinkman's double. That tagged Bob Turley with his third loss. He has yet to win.

The Angels won the nightcap by sending 12 men to the plate in a six-run seventh inning explosion. A single by pinch hitter Al Moran drove in the tie-breaking run. Mel Nelson was the winner with Jim Hannan taking the loss.

Other Teams Out After the Celtics

By JIM BECKER

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The other eight teams in the National Basketball Association take their second step today in a campaign to cut the five-time champion Boston Celtics down to size.

The NBA clubs will hold their annual draft of college talent, with picks going to the teams in the reverse order of the standings.

That gives first choice to the New York Knicks, who set an all-time team mark for futility in the recently concluded season, followed by the Chicago Zephyrs, who will move to Baltimore next season.

Then, in order, come San Francisco, Detroit, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Syracuse, Los Angeles and the Celtics.

The Knicks are almost certain to nab Art Heyman of Duke 6-foot-5 All-America and player of the year, although one mournful Knick official said: "With our luck he'll probably come up lame."

Other collegians likely to be grabbed early include:

Rod Thorn, West Virginia; Nate Thurmond, Bowling Green; Jerry Ward, Boston College; Tom Thacker, Cincinnati; Eddie Miles, State U.; Roger Strickland, University of Jacksonville; Jim King, Tulsa, and Herschel West, Grambling.

The NBA moguls opened the three-day meeting Monday with a move aimed squarely at Boston's long-time domination of the league.

The officials voted 6-3 to abolish the territorial draft, which gives teams the right to tab collegians playing within a 50-mile radius of their home courts. The territorial draft will go with the 1966 session.

Travs Use Big Bats to Gain Victory

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—The Arkansas Travelers, using their big bats on the slumping Syracuse Chiefs, pounded out a 9-7 International League baseball victory at Syracuse Monday night. The teams clash again tonight.

In other games, Jacksonville topped Rochester 9-4, Buffalo beat Columbus 20-14 and the Atlanta-Rochester and Indianapolis-Richmond games were postponed because of rain.

Southpaw Billy Smith chalked up his third triumph against no defeats for Arkansas, although he gave way in the seventh inning to relievers.

Dick Quiroz, who came on in the seventh, yielded his first run in four relief appearances—a home run to Syracuse second-sacker George Smith.

The triumph kept Arkansas in first place in the Southern Division of the league with a 9-5 record.

Jacksonville cuffed Rochester for five runs in the first inning to trounce the Red Wings. Homers by Tony Washington and winning pitcher Tommy Johns powered Jacksonville to its fifth victory in the past six games.

The weather was bad at Buffalo, but the pitchers were worse. The Bisons wiped out a five-run deficit and then squandered a seven-run lead before going on a six-run spree in the eighth inning to insure their fifth straight victory and their eighth in nine games. Rain began during a five-run Buffalo uprising in the fourth inning and continued throughout the 3½ hour game.

Columbus used seven pitchers and Buffalo six, with Marty Kutyna (2-0) getting the victory for the Bisons in relief. Despite the 34 runs, there was only one homer. Buffalo's Jim Frey got it.

Jackie Moore and George Smith hit home runs for Syracuse, but they weren't enough to prevent the sixth loss for the skidding Chiefs in their last seven games.

Johns' homer for Jacksonville was the young pitcher's first hit in two International League seasons. Washington's home run followed two walks, a single and a

Alston Not Losing Sleep Over the Axe

By WILL GRIMBLEY

NEW YORK (AP)—Walt Alston may feel like a man with an axe hanging over his head, but is he losing any sleep over it?

Not so you can tell it, the balding, harassed manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers insisted after his team dropped its fourth in a row Monday night, bowing to the New York Mets at the Polo Grounds 4-2.

"How does it feel to read that you're on the griddle and that you may be fired at any minute?"

"Well, I'll tell you—I don't like it a doggone bit. But am I staying awake nights, worrying about it? I certainly am not. I have no apologies to make to anybody. My conscience is clear."

During the past several weeks, the baseball market has been flooded with reports—many of them unofficial—that the Los Angeles team is rent with dissension and that Alston is on the verge triple in Jacksonville's five-run first inning at the expense of Rochester starter Herb Moford.

of losing his job to his coach, Leo Durocher.

The reports reached such proportions that Buzzie Bavasi, the Dodgers' general manager, found it necessary to call a closed meeting of the players and warn them against criticizing their boss.

Bavasi acknowledged that complaints had come from some of the players and that Durocher had passed along some of the gripes.

Later, Bob Kennedy, head coach of the Chicago Cubs, predicted that Alston would lose his job if he lost a game during a recent series. The Dodgers lost the game but Alston kept his job. Kennedy reportedly sent Alston an apology.

Relations between Alston and Durocher reportedly have become so strained that Durocher has moved his locker from the manager's private enclosure at Los Angeles.

Invisible icicles seemed to drip from their ears when Alston and Durocher dressed after Monday night's game. Not a word passed between them.
